EHR Integration Services is helping define the future physician practice by improving care delivery and bottom line results through "Perfect Practice", our proven consulting process and customer service philosophy that provides the perfect healthcare information technology solution for all of our clients, every time.

About Us

Founded in 2006, EHR Integration Services (EHRis) has long been involved in transforming how healthcare professionals interact with information, manage workflow and enhance patient relationships through technology. We recognize that "healthcare" information technology is not just about data, software and systems. It's about people, too. Our mission is to build technology that enhances your patient relationships and eliminates the barriers created by technology.

Perfect Practice Initiative

Not only is technology fundamental to efficiency and communication, it is a bridge to better care. That's why our goal is to make technology as natural as having a conversation with your patients. Perfect Practice allows us to look at your practice as an ecosystem, and design solutions that help make using technology more "human".

The advancement of technology in healthcare continues to provide exciting opportunities for improvement while challenging organizations to maintain complex information systems, comply with regulatory requirements and provide the highest levels of quality care.

The Perfect Practice Initiative was created to deliver an enhanced and integrated suite of healthcare technology products and services that enables modern healthcare organizations to operate effectively and thrive in this new interconnected world. It is the driving force behind the Perfect Practice Alliance.
